

NEWS IN BRIEF

WOMEN WRESTLE THE DEAL

Three women-owned businesses have teamed up on the deal, design and build-out of World Wrestling Entertainment's new 6,500 foot headquarters at 780 Third Avenue.

Jodi Pulice, founder and president of JRT Realty Group, the nation's largest woman-owned commercial real estate firm, and the exclusive leasing and management agent for the building, negotiated the lease agreement on behalf of WWE.

Spacesmith, founded and managed by Jane Smith, AIA, was the architectural design firm for the space, while ACC Construction, headed by Michele Medaglia (pictured right) built out WWE's brand new, 11th floor offices.

The new design emphasizes WWE's iconic excitement and energy and provides a hi-tech media and conference room.

Lois Weiss